

Anitha Reichel V B.A., M.A.

Assistant Professor

Anitha Reichel V, completed her B.A. PROGRAMME majoring two subjects (Political Science & Sociology) in one of the prestigious institutions under Delhi University, is quite competent and most talented one.

Her ceaseless quest for knowledge enabled her to pursue Masters in Political Science from Madras Christian College under University of Madras. Her M.A. Dissertation on "INDIA & CHINA: THE EVOLVING NAVAL BALANCE IN THE INDIAN OCEAN", was indeed a good work that analyzed the great power competition, cooperation and convergence in the Indian Ocean.

Further she completed her M.Phil. In Political Science and carried out her thesis titled, "Economic Interdependence and Maritime Geopolitics in the Asia – Pacific: China, India and the United States", that looked into the sync of Maritime Geopolitics with specific foci on Economic Interdependence and Convergence.

In both dissertations one could adjudge the meticulous dexterity of her presentations, penchant for analytical details, cogent arguments, robust and comprehensive understanding and elucidation of her themes of research.

Her innate capacity to write good proposals and elucidate robustly good essays marks her for an academic career.
