

MS. USHA G - ASSISTANT PROFESSOR

She completed her Bachelor of Computer Application (BCA), a program that provided her with a strong foundation in computer science and technology. Following this, she pursued a law degree, completing her Bachelor of Laws (LLB), where she gained a comprehensive understanding of legal principles and practices. Building upon her legal education, she further advanced her studies by completing a master's degree in Constitutional Law, specializing in the study of the fundamental laws that govern the structure and functioning of the state, individual rights, and the broader legal framework of the nation.
